

To whom it may concern,

I'm going to talk about my reasons why I want to be a Santa Clara Saint. My family has always practiced the importance of Faith and formation with me. I believe Santa Clara High School will give me the daily exposure to the Catholic faith and formation that I'm seeking to pray daily and attend church more often. I would love to achieve a Catholic education. I love the fact that the classes are smaller as compared to the public school system. I believe that the 1vs1 teacher experience that SCHS has to offer will help prepare me to any University of my choice.

I want to attend Santa Clara High School because coming from a small town like Santa Paula, Ca where everyone knows each other I believe SCHS is very similar where it also feels like a big Family. I like the idea of SCHS being a small community and very family oriented similar to my hometown of Santa Paula.

Santa Clara High School will give me the best opportunity to achieve my goal of becoming a Physical Therapist. I did some research online and everyone has great things to say about the school, administration and teachers. Most reviews mention that it feels like a giant family and how the teachers truly care about their students.

These are the reasons why I want to be a Saint. I want to have the opportunity to achieve my goals of becoming a Physical Therapists, practice the Catholic religion, and be part of the Saint Family and Community.

Blessings,

Melonie Torres
